DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to optical element assembly including v-groove, and a part receiving recess is formed in said mounting surface of said platform to establish optical coupling between said optical part and said optical element, classified in class 385, subclass 15.
- II. Claims 14-15, drawn to a method of making an optical element assembly, including the steps of forming a number of convexities of a predetermined height in rows and columns on one surface of a wafer by lithography and etching; and cutting said wafer for each optical element into individual optical chip, classified in class 385, subclass 132.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case invention I can be made in a row/series of individual chips using different technique such as molding technique rather than forming rows and columns by lithography and etching techniques and cutting the wafer into individual optical element chips.

Art Unit: 2883

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Each of the above Group I invention and Group II invention contain patentably distinct species as follows:

For Group Invention I:

IA) Claims 1-7 directed to including said optical element chip has said optical element formed on a protruding end face of a convexity protrusively provided on one side of a chip body; a groove is formed as an element mounting portion in a mounting surface of said platform on which said optical part is to be mounted.

IB) Claims 8-13 directed to including said optical element chip has said optical element formed on the bottom of a concavity in one side of a chip body; a convexity is formed as an element mounting portion on a mounting surface of said platform on which said optical part is to be mounted.

For Group Invention II:

IIA) claim 14 directed to including the steps of forming a number of convexities; and forming an optical element on the protruding end face of each of said convexities in a predetermined position relationship to at least one pair of opposed side surfaces of said each convexity.

Art Unit: 2883

IIB) claim 15 directed to including the step of forming an optical element on the bottom of each of said concavities in a predetermined position relationship to at least one pair of opposed wall surfaces of said each concavity.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 2883

A telephone call was made to Mr. Lathrop on 10/13/2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
